Builders of Our Navy

Every Firm So Engaged Losing Money.

EACH PAYING HEAVY PENALTIES.

Rumors of a Ship-Building Trust Denied at the Navy Department—Hundreds of Dollars Being Paid to the Government Daily—Other Dispatches from Washington.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—Every vessel being fit for the new navy is now under a penalty for delay in complying with the requirements of the contract. Saturday the Quintard Iron works of New York began paying penalties of $50 per day on each of the two vessels now under construction by them. These vessels, the Concord and the Bennington will be finished in May, 1890, and during the intervening time the contractors must forfeit to the government $100 for each of the six working days in every week.

There has been a rumor about the navy department for several days that a shipbuilders' trust has been formed with a view to compelling congress to make larger appropriations for the building of new vessels. There seems to be no ground for this report other than the fact that on Thursday last, when bids for five new cruisers were opened at the navy department, both the firms that made proposals failed to limit them to the appropriations, viz: $700,000 for each of the 2,000-ton cruisers, and $1,100,000 for each of the 3,000-ton steel vessels. It is asserted by naval officers who are familiar with shipbuilding interests that no such trust has been contemplated, and to further prove this it is stated that Henry Scott, of the Union Iron works of San Francisco, was prepared to submit bids within the appropriations, but just before the opening he received a telegram from the manager of the works, directing him not to do so. After careful consideration of questions involving the offering of bids for these cruisers, it was decided after Mr. Scott had left for Washington that the works could not build them without pecuniary loss.

Some of the penalties now being paid on vessels in course of construction are quite large. The Columbia Iron works at Baltimore, the company that can afford least of all ship building firms to lose money, is paying a penalty of $200 a day on the Petrel, for although that vessel is completed, she has not been accepted by the government. The penalties will continue until the vessel is formally accepted by the government. The Baltimore, one of the vessels at the Cramp works, is earning a penalty of $100 a day, but this will continue only until Oct. 15 next, when she will be completed. At the Union Iron works, of San Francisco, the Charleston is now undergoing repairs under a penalty of $100 a day.

The Vesuvius, under contract to the Cramps, is paying a penalty of $200 a day, and this will end Sept. 1, provided her pneumatic guns stand a satisfactory test.

An Ohio Cadet in Trouble.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—Adjt. Gen. Kelton has received an inquiry whether a cadet dismissed from the naval academy by court-martial is there by barred from entrance to the military academy. Congressman Burton, of Ohio, had a competive examination in his district for a vacant cadetship at West Point. The successful candidate was a young man who had been court-martialed and dismissed from the naval academy for hazing. This bars him out of the naval academy forever, and the question is raised as to his eligibility to West Point. There is nothing in the law that would prevent the appointment of this young man to the West Point academy. The regulations for the admission of cadets require that the candidate shall have a good moral character, and it has always been left to the congressman making the appointment to decide upon that point. The congressman in this instant will doubtless be informed that the young man will be acceptable to the department if he will take the responsibility of nominating him.

Rumors About Our Minister to Hayti.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—Rumors are afloat that President Harrison has determined to revoke the appointment of Frederick Douglass as minister to Hayti and appoint a white man, who would be more acceptable to Haytians, both of the Hippolite and Legitime factions. Mr. Douglass when asked about the matter declared he had received no intimation that his appointment would be cancelled, and that he would not feel the least bit humiliated if such action were taken, as he had not sought the appointment.

Assistant Secretary Wharton, of the state department, when asked about the probable reaction of Mr. Douglass' appointment, said he had heard nothing about it. The rumor finds but few believers, and Mr. Douglass himself expects now that the contest between Legitime and Hyppolite is over and a provisional government established in Hayti, and that he will sail for Port-au-Prince about the middle of next month.

Troops to be Sent to Alaska.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—It is probable a company or two of infantry from the military division of the Pacific will shortly be detailed for duty in Alaska. A number of prominent citizens of Sitka have petitioned President Harrison for a detachment of regulars for the protection of life and property in the territory and it is understood that Secretary Proctor favors the proposition and has so stated to the president. There have been no troops in Alaska since 1873, whence they were withdrawn, after having been located there in considerable force from the date of purchase of the territory in 1867. Gen. Jefferson C. Davis was the first commanding officer ever stationed there, the recent seizure of the illicit sealers in Behring Sea and the small force of deputy marshals in Sitka may have hastened this determination on the part of the government.

NO FOOD FOR SIXTEEN MONTHS.

The Strange Case of a Fifteen-Year-Old Boy Near Galena, Ill.

GALENA, Ill., Aug. 26.—The case of Thomas Hull, Jr, the 15-year old son of Thomas Hull, of Vinegar Hill, six miles from Galena, is one of the most remarkable ever reported among those persons who are compelled to abstain from food for long periods. One year ago last April the boy was taken ill with spinal meningetis. By careful medical treatment his life was saved, but he was left a paralytic by the disease. So complete was the paralysis that even the tongue was unable to perform its functions, every voluntary muscle of his body being paralyzed. It was thought at the time that he could live but a short time in such a helpless condition, but as the time wears on he seems to grow but little weaker and death is yet apparently far off.

The strangest feature of the case is that life should be maintained so long on the food to which he has been restricted. The muscles of the throat and tongue being paralyzed it is impossible for him to swallow and every ounce of food which he has received in these sixteen months has been conveyed to the gullet by means of a quill. In this manner small allowances of milk, whisky gruel and juices of fruits have been administered to him daily.

OVER WHIRLPOOL FALLS.

Carlisle D. Graham Successfully Makes His Fourth Trip in a Barrel.

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., Aug. 26.—Carlisle D. Graham made his fourth trip through the Whirlpool rapids Sunday at 4:10 o'clock. His other three trips were made in 1886 and 1887, and after the last of them, Kendal, the Boston policeman, swam the rapids with nothing on except a life preserver. Since then Graham has been trying to build a barrel that would carry him over the Horse Shoe falls, and it was for the purpose of testing his latest contrivances that he made the run yesterday.

The new barrel had two bags of sand weighing about thirty pounds inside and attached to the bottom were two pieces of railroad iron weighing about seven pounds. The weight kept the barrel nearly straight. The barrel did not stop at the whirlpool, but hugged the shore and continued down the river to Lewiston. The whole run seven miles was made in just twenty-five minutes.

COLLISION OF VESSELS.

Two Accidents Reported from Boats Arriving at Boston.

BOSTON, Aug. 26.—The schooner John Douglass, from Rondout, which has just arrived here, reports that when off Handkerchief lights she collided with the schooner Daniel Brittain, Habaker, for Boston. The Douglass had her rails and cut-water damaged, the Daniel Brittain her jibboom and headgear carried away.

The schooner Flora Rogers, from Brunswick, Ga., reports that she was run into off Nantucket shoals Saturday by the British schooner Glen of St. John. The Rogers jibboom and headgear carried away. She was otherwise slightly damaged.

Attempted Train Robbery.

LANCASTER, Pa., Aug. 26.—Charles D. Chambers, recently released from the penitentiary at Philadelphia, boarded the Pacific express on the Pennsylvania railroad early Sunday morning and endeavored to rob the passengers on the Pullman sleeper. Charles Murk, of Jersey City, a porter, grappled with the thief, who drew a revolver and shot the porter, inflicting dangerous wounds in the groin and legs. Other train men came to Murk's assistance and Chambers was overpowered and carried to Harrisburg where he was locked up.

Confessed to a Horrible Crime.

MEXICO, Mo., Aug. 26.—Perry Thrall, who died Friday at Macon, Mo., confessed just before his death to having committed the crime for which another suffered the death penalty. In 1854, William Vandeventer and wife were murdered in their house a few miles from Florida, near here. Bill Duly, a colored man, was arrested, tried, convicted and hanged for the crime at Paris, Mo., a few months after the tragedy. Thrall made the confession of this crime on his deathbed.

Striking Weavers Getting Disheartened.

FALL RIVER, Mass., Aug. 26.—The mass meeting of the weavers which was called for Saturday night to discuss the wage question was a complete fizzle. The leaders of the movement are disgusted and disheartened and make no concealment of their disappointment in the result. The strike of last spring crippled them badly, and they do not care to repeat the experiment. It is said their wages are better than ever before, and they see no chance of getting more at present.

A Deputy Marshal Arrested.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Aug. 26.—W. A. Gamble, recently appointed United States deputy marshal here, has been arrested upon a charge of accepting bribes and agreeing to have quashed certain indictments against illicit liquor men. Gamble asserts his innocence.

Died While Bathing.

SAVANNAH, Ga., Aug. 26.—M. T. Newman, of Jeffersonville, Ind., contractor for the new hotel De Soto building here, died from heart disease while bathing at Tybee Beach Sunday afternoon. He was at one time sheriff of Greene county, Ind.

A Big Labor Parade.

Forty-Five Thousand Men In Line.

EVERY MAN AN ACTUAL STRIKER.

The Inhabitants of London Given an Opportunity to See the Extent of Her Labor Troubles—At Least Two Hundred Thousand People Affected by the Strike—Other Foreign News.

LONDON, Aug. 26.—The well fed Londoners who are only bored by the complaints of their less fortunate brethren, found it a difficult matter yesterday to shut out from sight and hearing the immense demonstration of the striking East End laborers. When the head of their procession, on its way to Hyde park, had passed Westminster bridge, the rear was still at Blackfriars, and, walking twelve abreast, there was no less than 4,500 men in line.

These were all actual strikers and when to this number are added the laborers and artisans who have been thrown out of work through the strikes at the docks, the total number of men affected by the troubles will foot up at least 200,000. All along the line of march the streets were lined with people and the sympathizers of the crowds were unmistakably with the wretchedly underpaid laborers. This sympathy was manifested not alone in the hearty cheers with which the paraders were everywhere greeted, but in the alacrity with which the spectators dived down into their pockets when the little tin contribution boxs at the end of the long poles were shoved under their noses. All along the line of march the crowds were given this opportunity to turn their sympathy to practical account.

After the procession had passed Blackfriar's bridge the well-to-do people who crowded the streets were no less pronounced in their enthusiasm than the throngs of workmen that had cheered them before. The patter of the coins went merrily on only the coins were silver instead of copper, and now and then a bright golden sovereign would find its way from the pocket of some sympathizing shopkeeper into the little apperture at the top of the boxes. There was no disorder of any sort and the police who were out in force had nothing to do.

The strikers' procession reached Hyde Park about 5 o'clock in the afternoon when they were addressed by speakers from many different platforms. Resolutions were passed strongly in favor of continuing the strike.

The strikers are more determined than ever to maintain their position, and as the dock companies appear to be quite as resolute, there is no present prospect of an early settlement of their differences. The loss to the community consequent upon the utter paralysis of trade is enormous and cannot even be calculated. So far the strike has been conducted peacefully, but if it lasts another week no one believes this state of things will continue. The dock companies have not been quiet. They have been busily engaged for several days making all arrangements for securing laborers from other points, and when these arrive there can be no doubt that trouble will follow. So long as they see the docks deserted and the shipping unable to move, the men are patient enough and their leaders can manage them, but once they see their places taken by others they will not look idly on.

The Tories Want to Fight.

LONDON, Aug. 26. Some of the more belligerent Tories are making no end of trouble for Lord Salisbury and his government by their absurd demands for reprisals against the United States for the seizure of Canadian sealers in Behring sea. They want to know what is the use of having a great big navy if it is not to be used when the British flag is insulted. Some of the stanchest supporters of the government hitherto are loudest in their denunciation of what they call Lord Salisbury's milk and water policy toward the United States. It is not likely, however, that the cabinet will allow themselves to be influened by this pressure from their own supporters, strong as it is.

The Shah in Vienna.

VIENNA, Aug. 26.—The Shah of Persia arrived here Friday. He was received at the depot by Emperor Francis Joseph, Archdukes Charles, Ferdinand and Rainer and a number of other distinguished personages. Archduchess Maria, on behalf of the empress, received the shah at Hofburg.

Famine in Upper Egypt.

CAIRO, Aug. 26.—From Khartoum, Kassala, Tokar and other towns and villages on the Nile, in upper Egypt, come distressing accounts of famine. There are twenty deaths from starvation daily in Tokar alone, while in the whole stricken district the bodies of the dead are eaten by the living.

A Servant of a Servant.

LONDON, Aug. 26.—Mr. John Taylor was fined fifteen shillings and cost Saturday for neglecting to pay the servants tax, which he should have paid on the man servant he keeps. The funny part of the story is that this Mr. Taylor who keeps a man servant is the Prince of Wales' footman.

Bulgarians Buying Cartridges.

VIENNA, Aug. 26.—The Bulgarian authorities have purchased 10,000,000 cartridges in this city, and are negotiating with a Belgian manufacturer for 50,000.

A Disorderly Meeting.

PARIS, Aug. 26.—M. Laguerre, the Boulangist deputy, presided at a stormy meeting of his partisans here yesterday, called for the purpose of selecting candidates to run at the approaching elections for members of the lower house. In his speech M. Laguerre declared that though he was a personal friend of Gen. Boulanger, he was not prepared to follow him blindly. He desired the triumph of the ideas which Boulanger advocated and was prepared to adopt any plan which promised that result without concerning himself for the fortunes of any individual. These remarks were not kindly received. Quarrels arose at once, which ended in such disorder that the meeting finally dispersed without selecting candidates.

The Pope Preparing to Leave Rome.

LONDON, Aug. 26.—The Chronicle has a special from Rome asserting that preparations are being made for the departure of the pope.

ANOTHER DAM BREAKS.

Thirty-Five Million Gallons of Water Suddenly Let Loose.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Aug. 26.—The Spring Lake reservoir, near Fiskville, in the southwest corner of Cranston, about fifteen miles from this city, which supplies a number of mill villages along the Pawtuxet river, burst Sunday afternoon. Three persons were drowned and some damage done to property. A man named Yeaw, who was about a quarter of a mile off, noticed the water coming through the masonry of the dam, in a stream about as big as a farrel. The hole was apparently growing very rapidly. The only living object in sight was a cow a few hundred feet across the field, which Yeaw succeeded in rescuing, although the water was up to his neck.

Meanwhile down the valley were Mrs. Greene Tew, aged 60, a Mrs. Hawkins, aged 90, and Mrs. Tew's son, 7 years old. They were walking through a strip of wood, and were overtaken by the flood and drowned. Their bodies were found in the wood through which the water quickly ran until it emptied into Pawtuxet river. The river rose rapidly and caused considerable alarm among people along its banks who thought that the Ponegansett reservoir, the biggest in the state, had gone. Many of them left their houses and fled, but the flood subsided as rapidly as it come. The path of the water from the reservoir was through a thickly settled country, and the only damage to the property was the wrecking of a stable belonging to Russell Matthewson, the capsizing of Dr. E. K. Clarke's carriage shop, and the demolition of three road buggies.

The dam was built in 1887 for service of the Pawtuxet Valley company, redeeming a small swamping pond, locally known as Spruce lake. The reservoir covered eighteen acres and contained about thirty million gallons of water. The dam is 925 feet long, 17 feet 9 inches high and 8 feet wide on top, and 35 feet wide at the bottom. The gap left by the water is between 60 and 70 feet long. It is just above the waste pipe. No examination has been made to learn the cause of the break. The man Yeaw is the only witness to any part of the casualty. The reservoir was practically emptied.

The cause of the bursting of the dam is believed to be a spring that existed under the middle dam which undermined it. Earl Dodge 9 years old was with the party that was overtaken and drowned. He escaped with bruises by clinging to a tree.

FLOODS AND EARTHQUAKES.

Many Lives Lost and Property Destroyed in China and Japan.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 26.—The steamer Oceanic from Hong Kong and Yokohoma arrived Sunday with late Chinese advices. Further details of the bursting of the Yellow river embankments in the province of Shan Tung, July 22, state that the destruction is widespread. The breach in the river is over 2,000 feet in length, and a swift current swept through, flooding to a depth of twelve feet a large extent of the country lying adjacent. Many houses were washed away, and a dispatch from Che Foo states that the number of persons drowned is too great to be counted. Ten districts are already submerged and it is feared many more in the low lying country southwest suffer a similar fate.

The latest advices concerning the earthquake at Cumanota, July 28, place the number of killed at eighteen and the wounded at nineteen. Fifty-two dwellings were demolished. A telegram on the 30th of July stated that fifty-three shocks had been experienced and that they continued to be felt. The inhabitants were sleeping in the open air. The same earthquake was felt in the province of Clukugo. Considerable loss of life is reported, but no particulars have been received.

Cigarmakers Returning to Work.

JACKSONVILLE, Aug. 26.—The strike of the cigarmakers is practically ended. About 150 men mostly Americans will resume work. Without any concerted action by resolution or otherwise, these men are satisfied that the offer of Manager Gatto to pay off through a window, cut in the side of the stairway is all the concession that can reasonably be expected. The Cuban element among the workmen may hold out for another week, but it is thought all will be at work by Sept. 1.

Swore Vengance and Carried it Out.

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 26.—James and Henry Miles, brothers, yesterday waylaid, shot and killed William Miller at Brunswick near this city. A year ago William Miller shot and killed Joseph Miles during a quarrel which resulted from Miles' attentions to Mrs. Miller. Miller was acquitted of the crime. Miles brothers swore revenge and yesterday executed the threat. They have escaped.

Struck by an Engine.

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—Joseph Daly was struck by a switch engine near the Grand Central depot yesterday and sustained probably fatal injuries. He was taken to Bellevue hospital.

Destructive Flames.

Kansas City Suffers a Heavy Fire Loss.

WHICH IS ESTIMATED AT $150,000.

A Sudden Change of Wind Saves the Immense Packing House of Swift & Company from Total Destruction—Narrow Escape of Miners from a Mine Fire—Other Fire Losses.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Aug. 26.—The immense packing house of Swift & Company, at the corner of Berger avenue and First street, in Kansas City, Kan., was saved from total destruction to-day by fire Sunday by a fortunate shift of the wind. As it was, the smoke house, a structure of corrugated iron, and the rendering house were consumed. The fire started at 9:30 in the morning in the smoke house from some unknown cause.

The fire departments of both cities responded to the alarm and were on the grounds in sufficient time to have checked the blaze in its inception. When the hose connections were made and the water turned on it was found that the pressure was wholly insufficient. Handicapped as they were, the firemen could do practically nothing to subdue the flames which by that time had almost consumed the smokehouse and had communicated through a viaduct to the rendering establishment. After the flames had had their own way for about an hour, the wind, which had been blowing in the early morning from the south, shifted to the northwest and carried the flames away from the adjoining buildings. Shortly afterwards the water pressure became sufficient to force the water from the lines of hose and in an hour from then the firemen had the flames under control.

The smoke house was totally destroyed. The south end of the rendering house was saved by a fire wall. During the fire, Master Mechanic Tate, fell from the roof of the smoke house while attempting to descend by a rope and was instantly killed. The total loss on buildings, machinery and stock is placed by Superintendent Young at $150,000 with $120,000 insurance, placed with forty-two companies.

Narrow Escape of Coal Miners.

WHAT CHEER, Iowa, Aug. 26.—About 4:30 Saturday afternoon the top works and building of Shaft G took fire in the boiler room, and in a few minutes was in a mass of flames. The shaft belongs to the White Cheer Coal company, and was putting out about 1,000 tons of coal per month. About 200 men were in the bank at the time, but all escaped by way of the air shafts. Thirteen out of fifteen mules in the mine were suffocated. Total loss $50,000; insurance $12,000. One of three large boilers exploded, blowing a piece of steam pipe through a building 300 yards away. A large piece of boiler was blown a much greater distance, but no one was injured.

Oatmeal Mill Burned.

JOLIET, Ill., Aug. 26.—The oatmeal mill of David Oliver was burned yesterday with $62,000 loss. The cause of the fire is unknown. Mr. Oliver came to Joliet last spring after his mill in Chicago was blown up, and bought the property. He fitted it up at great expense for making oatmeal. It was insured for $12,000.

Eighteen Cows and a Horse Burned.

WEST ANDOVER, Mass., Aug. 26.—The house and barn of Ed. Luscombe were burned this morning. In the barn were eighteen cows and a horse, which were burned. Loss, $5,000.

Insurance Companies Pay the Loss.

BALTIMORE, Aug. 26. Coate's plate rolling mill at Locust Point was burned Sunday. Loss, $16,000; insurance full.

Death of a Philanthropist.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 26.—Henry Shaw the venerable philanthropist and best friend St. Louis ever had, died Sunday of senile debility in his 91st year. Mr. Shaw was best known by his two magnificent gifts to St. Louis city of Tower Grove Park and Shaw's Garden, one of the finest botanical gardens in the world. His estate is estimated at $2,500,000, the greater part of which it is supposed has been willed to the city in various requests. He was of a singularly modest and assuming nature seeking no personal glorification for the gifts. Nevertheless it was impossible for his munificence to escape frequent public recognition.

A Burglar's Desperation.

ROCHESTER, N. Y. Aug. 26.—The Herald's Cuba, N. Y., correspondent telegraphs that early yesterday morning Dr. Allen's wife was awakened by a burglar in the room where she and her husband were sleeping. She awakened her husband who attempted to catch the thief. The latter drew a revolver and snapped it, but it failed to explode. He then jumped out of the window and has not yet been captured. Jewelry valued at $150, is missing.

New Hi's Woolen Mills.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 26.—A syndicate of English capitalists is negotiating for the purchase of the extensive woolen mills of James Lees & Sons, at Bridgeport. It is understood the syndicate will accede to the price named by the firm, which is said to be about $500,000. The mills employ about 700 hands.

A Double Drowning.

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—August Eckman and Fred. Sharer were drowned while bathing at the foot of East Seventy-first street Sunday.

MURDER AND SUICIDES.

Startling Tragedies Reported from Several Different Places.

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 26.—Edward Asman, who murdered a woman north of this city Saturday night at midnight and then cut his own throat, has revived sufficiently to tell the story of the crime. He said he and Bertha Eliff, with whom he had been intimate for three years past, had been to Kissell's resort, and on their return home had a quarrel. Becoming infuriated, he drew his pocket-knife and cut her throat, and then, horror-stricken at what he had done, he drew the knife across his own throat.

The deceased woman was a dressmaker and bore an excellent reputation. Asman is a Cincinnatian, but has been working in this city at different times for several years. He has so far recovered as to be considered out of danger.

A Rejected Lover Ends His Life.

SAGINAW CITY, Mich., Aug. 26.—A sensational suicide occurred here Sunday afternoon. Julius Zimmerman, a prominent young man shot himself through the heart at his room on Adams street. It is said he was infatuated with a beautiful young lady, who rejected his suit. He left a sealed letter, but it was taken possession of by the coroner, and will not be opened till the inquest.

Met With Misfortune.

TOPEKA, Kan., Aug. 26.—W. W. Clemenson, one of the oldest residents of Topeka, committed suicide Sunday morning by shooting himself. At one time he owned valuable property in this city, but has met with many misfortunes. He was a heavy loser by the raid made by Price's guerillas in 1860, when the city of Lawrence was sacked. He was well known throughout the state.

A Despondent Englishman.

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—John B. Hunt, an Englishman, 23 years of age, shot himself through the heart at his residence, 208 East One Hundred and Twenty-sixth street, Sunday afternoon. Despondency is the supposed cause. From letters found in his trunk it is thought he has a wife in Louisville, Ky.

Jealousy Leads to a Double Tragedy.

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 26.—A special from Mt. Vernon, O., says that Elijah Lyburger, a prominent Democratic politician, residing at Millwood, shot his wife last night and then shot himself through the head. Neither can recover. Jealousy is supposed to be the cause.

A Town Killed by Mining Troubles.

SPRING VALLEY, Ill., Aug. 26.—Despair is stamped on the face of every miner and business man her. Property once high in price can now be bought for a song. The Coal company will soon make a desperate effort to start the mines, and if they fail, all work will be abandoned till the first of next year. Many miners are leaving here for Pana and other southern Illinois fields.

PRICES CURRENT.

Review of the Money, Stock and Cattle Quotations for Aug. 24.

NEW YORK—Money at 2½ per cent. Currency sixes, 118 bid; four coupons, 128; four-and-a-halfs, 106¾ bid.

The stock market this morning was dull, but prices were firm on advices of higher values in London the opening prices here were from ¼ to ⅝ per cent. higher than they closed last night. The most prominent stocks were St. Paul and Lackawanna. Cotton seed oil certificates and lead trusts were the most active of the unlisted securities. In the early dealings there was a further slight advance, but toward 11 o'clock, prices took a downward turn under the lead of Richmond and West Point. That stock dropped ⅝ per cent. and the others ¼ to ½. At 11 o'clock values were slightly below those of the opening. In the closing hour to noon, the market almost stagnant and the fluctuation insignificant. Even the publication of the bank statement shortly after 11 o'clock had no effect on the market, notwithstanding the fact that it was very unfavorable, showing a further decrease in bank reserve $1,296,505. The closing prices were but little changed from yesterday's.

LOUISVILLE, KY NEW YORK, N. Y

AN OHIO RIVER DISASTER.

A Steamer Sinks a Towboat and is Shortly Afterward Burned.

CINCINNATI, Aug. 26.—A few moments before 10 o'clock last night the New Orleans steamer Commonwealth, running for the day as a Coney Island boat, collided with and sunk the towboat Lame Duck, near the Louisville and Nashville railroad bridge, and an hour later was burned to the water's edge at her moorings, foot of Parsons street, Fulton.

The Commonwealth had made her last trip from Coney Island and was about to tie up for the night, there being aboard of her only a few members of her crew.

On the Duck were ten men, comprising four raftsmen, the boat's crew of five and a friend of the engineer.

After the collision the steamer picked up some of the men, landed them, and then turned her head up stream toward her moorings at the foot of Whittaker street in Fulton. The big vessel ran her nose into the bank, hawsers secured her fore and aft, her furnaces fires were extinguished, and the mate, engineers and strikers left her a little after 10 o'clock. It wasn't more than an hour after the mate and engineer went down the gang-plank before the vessel was afire from stem to stern.

The Commonwealth was 260 feet in length, very broad of beam, and her upper works were very high above the surface of the water that rippled under her broad paddle wheels. The arched paddle-boxes were thrust above the hurricane deck almost as high as the serrated ornamental work on the roof of the pilot-house. The vessel was old. Every splinter of timber in her from keelson to the jackstaff tip was as dry as an Ohio and Mississippi sun could make it. A handful of kindling wood, saturated with petroleum, thrust into a furnace, wouldn't have blazed up quicker than did the Commonwealth last night.

The Commonwealth burned as rapidly as a sun dried thatch cottage. At 11:50 every bit of the vessel above the boiler deck, from the capstan forward to the rudder aft, was ablaze with flame.

It was a tremendously gorgeous spectacle. Up in the city, beyond the elbow of hills, the reflection of the fire could be seen as far west as Price hill. Thousands of people dressed and went up in the East End to see the fiery spectacle.

The Commonwealth was an old vessel, and was purchased last summer for $3,650, and about $6,000 worth of repairs made on her, in the way of boilers and overhauling her machinery. The vessel is almost an entire lost, the boilers only can probably be saved. She was insured for $6,500.

It is believed that four of the crew of the Lame Duck were drowned.

A War Vessel Sent to Hayti.

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—The sloop-of-war Galena started from the Brooklyn navy yard Sunday for Port-au-Prince, where she will relieve the Kearsarge, the latter vessel having been ordered to return north. Although the Haytian war is practically at an end, it is understood that the United States government deems it necessary to keep a war vessel at Port-au-Prince to properly protect American interests there.

Claims Self-Defense.

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—Otto Benson, aged 28, become involved in a quarrel in Brooklyn early this morning and was knocked down and fatally injured. John Smith, aged 22, was arrested as his assailant. Smith admits striking Benson, but claims he did so in self-defense.

Funeral of Carolin, the Murderer.

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—The funeral of Charles Carolin, the executed murderer, took place Sunday from an undertaker's establishment. There were no services and only three of his friends followed his body to the grave. The interment was in Calvary cemetery.

It is asserted that the waterworks in process of building are to be better and greater than we expect. Perhaps after all we are to have some reward for our long waiting.

It General Beatty enjoys the peculiar notoriety that his jealous hatred of Forsaker is giving him, through quotations of the Democratic press, he is welcome to it. The opposition of kickers is not potent, as a rule.

According to present indications elixir may be successfully used in executing murderers, if electricity is to be abandoned. Death won't be instantaneous, but it will be sure and not too painful. We can't expect to provide murderers with a truly pleasant death.

The situation in the Eleventh senatorial district is likely to be re enacted in this congressional or senatorial district some of these days. It is the natural outcome of bossism and gang rule, and, even though the fact is unpleasant, Marion county is afflicted just that way.

An angler's paradise seems to have been discovered in the Gulf of California, where various kinds of fish and oysters have been found in great abundance. The discovery has been made by an U. S. exploring expedition, and c mes too late to be regarded as a "fish story."

The Virginia situation is threatening—to the Democracy. Republican differences have been buried, the factions are now united, and the Republican hosts are ready to fight unitedly and determinedly under Mahone. It means that the state MAY be carried for the Republicans.

The way in which Chicago and New York are each hustling for the World's fair naturally leads one to conclude that someone is going to be very seriously disappointed. The confidence of Chicago, with the odds against her, is worthy of admiration, and the Windy City really expects to down the metropolis in the end.

One year ago trains through here were loaded down with passengers from the West on their way to the G. A. R. encampment at Columbus. Now the tide is westward, but it is not so heavy. The annual meeting of the soldiers is no less attractive, but last year the attraction was doubled by the desire to see old friends and relatives in Ohio.

It is cheerful to note what apparent unison there is in the local Democracy supporting local aspirants for state honors. Hon. B. G. Young was thus favored and Judge Norris enjoys the same united backing. We are not sure this harmony would prevail if the state was Democratic. This is one happy feature of being in the minority, there is freedom from annoying jealousies.

Out in Illinois two men, both named Andrew J. Whitaker, claim the appointment to the same office in Washington. If the congressman recommended the appointment there will be no trouble in distinguishing the imposter, but congressmen do not always control them. Some of these days the John Smiths of Ohio may be disputing which is the rightful claimant to some office.

Statistics go to show that Ohio has more than 40,000 white voters who can neither read nor write. Kentucky has about 55,000 and Pennsylvania 66,000. Add to these figures the colored voters who cannot read or write and we have a fact that is anything but cheerful to contemplate. The electoral privilege seems rather too freely bestowed when the balance of power is held by a class of men who cannot read their ballots.

It is asserted that President Harrison's administration is removing and appointing postmasters fifty times as fast as Andrew Jackson, the great Democratic spoilsman. Of course the increase in population will account for a part of this increase, but yet the present rate of changing is far in excess of Jackson's record. Yet there are a great many fellows who think the Harrison, Wanamaker and Clarkson combination is moving very slowly.

It begins to look as though there is an element in the Democracy of Marion county which favors a single-term rule in the office of auditor. Messrs. Hahn and Waples were ousted at the end of one term each, the former for gross incompetency, the latter for assuming too great authority—so the boys said. Now, one naturally wonders what is the matter with Clark? He has been an efficient and obliging officer, and hearing of an effort to stap him in the back we are curious to know why such things be.

In the Land of Prohibition.

[Van Wert Daily News.]

A drummer—not one of those fellows who make the noise for a brass band, but a traveling salesman—relates his experience on a recent trip through the land of the hopper and sunflower.

"I was out through Kansas selling reapers this spring," said he, "and saw some remarkable workings of the Prohibitory law. I stopped up in Saline county at an old farmer's over night. In the morning as I came down stairs I felt rather drowsy and said to the old man's sons, young men of 25 or 30, 'Gracious, boys, but an eye-opener would taste good.'

"'Hush,' whispered one of the boys, 'come this way, but don't let the old man see us. He's awful set on Prohibition an' would drive us off the farm if he suspected anything.'

"I followed and was led to the hay mow, where a jug of the old stuff was produced. An hour afterward, having sold the old gentleman a machine, I thoughtlessly remarked: 'A little of the right material to wash the dust out of our throats wouldn't go bad.'

"'Hush!' said he; 'come with me, but don't let the boys see us. They are dreadful set on Prohibition, an' I don't want to offend 'em!'

"He led me to a dark corner of the cellar where his jug was produced. Oh, yes, the workings of Prohibition in Kansas are beautiful and wonderful."

C. and A. Railway Notes.

[Huntington Herald.]

Quite a number of new men have been hired as extra brakemen within the last week.

Conductors Day and Garr were the lucky men to catch the Niagara excursion run the other evening. Both know well how to say "All aboard."

The superintendent contemplates putting a gravel train on the road about the first of the month. The gravel will be taken from the Marion waterworks reservoir.

Engine No. 4 has been overhauled and will be sent to the road's sand pits for use. The company expects to open five new sand pits along the line by the 1st of September.

About the first of the month Chief Dispatcher Gross, of the east-in division, expects to take a vacation of some weeks, visiting friends in the East. Mr Hough will occupy his place and have charge of the east end.

Receiver Malott will throw the receiver's certificates, amounting to $250,000, on the market early in September, and anticipates no trouble in placing them in twenty four hours. He will make extensive improvements to the property, putting in new crossties at the rate of 10,000 a week.

N. Y., L. E. and W. Excursion Rates.

Home-Made Wines.

A. Ritzhaupt is prepared to deliver his famous home-made wines to any part of Marion. These wines are of his own make, are pure and are highly recommended by physicians for medicinal use. He has Catawba, Concord, Delaware, Elwely and other brands. Give them a trial. Call at his cellar at residence if you desire to select. [11-10]

TELL TALE WHISKERS.

HOW THEY INDICATE THE CHARACTERS OF THE WEARERS.

A Man's Good and Bad Qualities Can Usually Be Read by the Style of His Facial Adornment—It Appears That the Bare-faced Man Has a Little the Best of It.

The subject of beards furnishes an interesting study as indicating the dispositions of persons. There is nothing particularly marked about the characteristics of the "beardless youth," as his purposes in life and his character can hardly be said to be fixed. However, as he grows into manhood, and matures his beard to his taste, the style he finally adopts will usually indicate his ideas of life. There is, of course, nothing particularly remarkable about young mustaches, and the little dudish side whiskers, worn wedge shape just below the ears. They may be termed simply freaks of youth. The absence altogether of whiskers and mustache in a man whose character and habits of life have become fixed and unchangeable, indicates a frank, open hearted disposition, with a great regard for the truth and the courage to tell it, with nothing to conceal and a conscientiousness that is as clear and apparent as his clean shaven face. He is usually a plain, unpretentious man, who pays more attention to the storing of his mind with useful information and the domestic side of life than the adornment of his person.

HE OF THE IRON WILL.

The man of iron will and firmness of purpose is he who wears a full, thick, stubby beard. If he is a man of brain and has had the benefit of cultured experience, although firm in his purposes and unchangeable in his ideas, he will grant you your argument if you are reasonable. But on the other hand, if he is uncultured and inexperienced in business affairs, he will prove to be an uncompromising tyrant, uncouth and overbearing in the extreme. Having only a superficial knowledge of letters, he will not permit you to give an opinion contrary to his own. The long, flowing, pointed beard, worn by such church reformers as Wiclif and John Calvin did not indicate any particular trait of character in their day, as they were only worn to serve as a contrast to the clean shaven faces of the Roman Catholic priesthood. These long beards are worn as a rule by the clergy of some denominations today. There is a pious stateliness about them very becoming to doctors of divinity. The elongation of the countenance is materially aided by such beards, and the changes of facial expression are not so plainly observable. A man with such a beard has little trouble to look pious, no matter how great a sinner he may be. Ordinarily persons in this day and age who emulate this style of beard may be found active members of some church, or hovering about the vestibule of the house of the Lord, borrowing religion for some sinister or mercenary motive. If his motives are not pure, he is what we would commonly call a hypocrite. If pure, his thoughts are of a theological turn, and he will pay less attention to accumulating a little of this world's goods than to the details of the church. Men who wear their beards in this style are usually lovers of fine horses, and to distinguish between the livery man and the deacon you have only to contrast the quick twinkle of the former's eye with the soft, mild expression of that of the latter.

Perhaps the most marked index of character is furnished by what is commonly called Burnsides, and the more of the bare chin that is shown, and the heavier and more pointed the whiskers, the greater is the measure of self conceit. High living and a self consciousness that is utterly oblivious to the importance of his surroundings, is a characteristic of the wearer of flowing Burnsides. He is generally possessed of a fine physique, and prides himself on his shape. He is usually a gourmand, whose appetite is easily offended at something that is not up to his standard of cookery. His greed knows no bounds, and his egotism no compromise.

A plain, unpretentious mustache indicates nothing in particular, and about the only way you can read a man's character from this standpoint is by the manner in which he trains his mustache and the amount of labor he devotes to it. A man, for instance, who will take a pair of scissors and deliberately trim off the straggling ends of his mustache to keep them from curling up his nose, or in the corner of his mouth, is more sensible than the general run of men who are really able to grow a healthy mustache. If there is any one style of whiskers in the world that is calculated to make a fool of a man more than any other, it is a fine, heavy mustache, and, as before hinted, about the only thing we can say of a man who devotes half his time to the training of his mustache is, he is usually very giddy, and his urbanity and vanity are measured by the size and curl of this appendage.

Of course, there are exceptions to the foregoing rules, but the thoughtful reader will find much for reflection in this brief outline of characteristic styles of whiskers.—G. W. Dannettell in Evansville (Ind.) Tribune.

A Nice Crowd.

The Austrian empire is composed of quite a number of different nationalities among them Poles, Hungarians, Bohemians and Croats, the characteristics of which are portrayed in the following anecdote:

Four Australian soldiers are quartered over night at the house of a peasant. In the morning after they had resumed their march the Pole remarked:

"Comrades, that peasant had a very nice watch."

"We should have taken it along with us," observed the Hungarian.

"I've got the watch," observed the Bohemian.

"You did have it, but I've got it now," remarked the Croat, closing the debate.

He had already stolen it from his comrade.—New York News.

Dot's Theory.

It was little Dot's first visit to a farm, and she went with her aunt to see how the pigs were fed. The little one gazed in astonishment at the young porkers for a moment, and then placing her hand on her curly hair she said reflectively:

"Auntie!"

"Yes, dear."

"Does 'oo put all the piggies' tails up in curl papers?"—New York World.

He Proved His Case.

"Human nature is mighty queer, isn't it?" he observed to the other man on the rear platform of the street car.

"Yes, I suppose so," replied the other

"People are too sensitive—altogether too sensitive"

"I don't know about that."

"Well, I do. For instance, now, you have a red nose. You are not to blame for it, perhaps, but you are so sensitive that if I should offer you a remedy for it you"——

"You old loafer, I've a good mind to knock your head off," hissed the red nosed man as he squared off.

"Told you so!" said the other as he dropped off. "Human nature is the queerest durned thing on earth, and some folks are so sensitive that they'd swallow their false teeth rather than let any one know they had 'em."—Detroit Free Press

Truly Appreciated.

He was an artist, he sketched and drew,
Or painted some blossoms with wondrous hue,
And his nimble fingers would seem to wave
Neath the dainty tools that his genius gave;
Or some face of the sweetest beauty graced
The canvas o'er which his brushes traced
The world approved him and sold it knew
No limit to what his skill could do

He could turn to subjects less intense;
He whitewashed the fence and the hen-yard fence;
He painted the ceiling and reddened the bricks,
And he pattied the door steps' dents and nicks;
He gave to the stairs the attention due,
And tinkled plated the door knobs, too;
And his wife declared when his work was o'er
Such an artist had never lived before

Maintaining It.

A gentleman who knew John A. Logan in southern Illinois before the war tells us that on a certain occasion young Logan found it necessary to doubt the word of a man, and told him so without any circumlocution.

"Don't you call me a liar, sir," said the man excitedly, "I have a reputation to maintain, and I mean to maintain it, sir."

"I know it," said Logan; "and you are maintaining it every time you tell a lie."—Washington Post

Railroading.

"Speedwell!" yelled the western railway superintendent to his assistant, "I see by these dispatches that the overland flyer No. 2 is snow bound at North Fork."

"Yes, sir," was the brisk reply, "I've ordered out the snow plows."

"Very well. Telegraph the crew that as soon as they open the road I want them to carry a train load of snow to South Pass and dump it on the track. The rails there are melting with the heat."—New York Weekly.

We try the country boarding house
It is not as was stated;
The beds are hard as two inch planks,
The board is overrated—
The rooms so small and close and hot

Is open to objection,
The cottage by the sea may be
Unwise in its selection,
Dissipation surrounds them both
And brings with it dejection

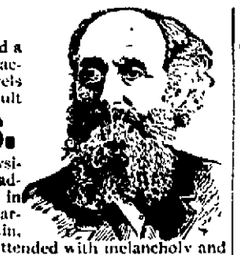
IT NEVER FAILS

BAD BLOOD



Means an inactive liver and a sympathetic or unnatural action of the stomach, bowels and kidneys, and as a result

BILIOUSNESS.

The symptoms are drowsiness, loss of appetite, headache, lack of energy, pain in the back, costiveness or diarrhœa, sallowness of skin, furred tongue, generally attended with melancholy and

GENERAL DEBILITY.

To cure these diseases means to restore the action of the liver and other organs, and to kill the poison in the blood. A remedy containing Mandrake, Culvers Root, Burdock and Cascara Sagrada, acting especially on the liver, stomach, kidneys and sweat glands, is the proper one.

HIBBARD'S RHEUMATIC SYRUP

restores action, kills malaria and purifies the blood.

CONSTIPATION.

THE process of digestion, assimilation and removal needs the healthy action of the liver, pancreas and glands which supply the bile and other fluids, in order to stimulate them to proper action.

Hibbard's Rheumatic Syrup

combines all the best medicines, as Mandrake, Culvers Root and Cascara Sagrada, with tonics to restore all secretions and supply the needed action. After taking a few bottles nature completes the cure.

IT NEVER FAILS.

TESTIMONIALS WORTHY OF CONFIDENCE.

For over twenty years I have been a great sufferer from the effects of a diseased stomach, and for three years past have been unable to do any business—hardly able to move about. Two years ago my case was pronounced by the best medical skill incurable. I visited different water cures and tried different climates, but to no good. Last June I began using Hibbard's Rheumatic Syrup and at once began to feel better. I have used thirteen bottles, and am a well man.

WHILE BABY TAKES HIS NAP.

The house is hushed to silence,
No cheerful sounds are heard;
A towel is tied around the cage
To still the merry bird.

With cautious step and bated breath
We tread the stairs and hall,
And if our shoes are nearly new
We doff them, one and all.

And mamma, at the nursery door,
With lifted finger stands,
"Hush, children, hush-sh! don't make a noise;
You needn't wash your hands.

"He mustn't hear the water run,
I'd rather you would go
And play some quiet game, my dears,
Upon the floor below.

"And, Maggie, you watch near the door,
In case some one should call;
Don't let the bell be rung, and, Fred,
Don't laugh, and don't play ball."

What means this awful stillness?
Has some sad news been brought?
What dreadful sufferer can it be
That needs this constant thought?

What shocking accident has chanced?
Is some one killed, perhaps?
Oh, no! It's like this every day,
While baby takes his naps.

She Puts on the Full Address Now.

A young woman in Washington has been weeping big, bitter tears of brine. She wrote to Jack some weeks ago, and Jack never answered her. She waited, but in vain, and finally when she passed Jack on the street she cut him dead. Then she went home and played weird, melancholy minor waltzes on the piano and read novels with lots of love and suicide in them.

And Jack—poor Jack! He went from claret soda water to real beer. Instead of smoking two cigarettes a day he consumed a whole package before dinner. He went for hours without brushing his clothes, and didn't care whether his necktie was up over the top of his collar or not.

Recently the postman rang the door bell at the young woman's house and left a letter. There was a note on the back of it which read:

"Miss —— ——: The next time you write to 'Dear Jack' put his full name and address on the envelope."

She grasped the fearful truth at once. The secrets she had intrusted to those pages had been exposed to the gaze of a lot of heartless, jeering, dead letter clerks; and all because in a fit of loving absent mindedness she had forgotten to put anything but "Jack" on the envelope.

Jack now wears his cravat with all the grace of former days.—Washington Capital.

A Leprous Princess in Paris.

The London leper has caused, I hear, quite a scare. I have no doubt that there has always been lots of leprosy in the world, but that we know nothing about it, because the doctors give it a fine Greek name. Why not translate all the new Greek names of disease into graphic English? If there were a descriptive name that we could understand for every malady a long step would be taken towards curing them. What meaning, for instance, does the word eczema convey to the unlearned mind? Whenever I hear doctors giving evidence to a jury I feel as if they were talking in a foreign language which nobody but themselves can understand. It would, perhaps, startle the world to hear that the Prince of Wales' leper could find his match in a palace in this city, where there is a leper high and mighty from a heraldic standpoint. She is on kissing terms with our royalties. This illustrious person has been nearly twenty years attacked with the disease, which is kept in subjection by careful daily treatment. I never heard that she had given it to any one. There is, however, no doubt whatever as to the nature of her affection. They say that the primary cause of leprosy in her case was the consanguine marriage of her ancestors.—Paris Letter.

The Lover's Coat.

A tale of disaster to a young business man's pride and spring overcoat was told at the Midland the other night by a friend of the victim. This young man is the personification of modesty, or bashfulness, but he has by diligent and heroic efforts managed to lead a young lady of Troost avenue to the understanding that she is to be his. Twice a week or more he has gone to her home to impress upon her the existence and importance of the contract. Sunday evening the young man went to the home of the young woman to have a reiteration of the whole matter, and the session was not completed until 10:30 p. m. by pa's watch. As young ladies will sometimes do, this one followed the receding form of the senior partner of the "steady company" organization to the front door, and after a series of dilatory motions an adjournment was agreed upon. He stood on the threshold to fasten his gloves, and she swung the front door shut.

As the spring lock snapped the door nipped the skirt of his coat and held it against his greatest strength. He was a prisoner, and she who was to be his had floated up the stairway unmindful that he who was to be hers was impaled by his coat tail on the veranda. This bashful young man had no inclination to ring the bell, for pa would answer it and he and the old gentleman were not on particularly sociable terms. He knew the only recourse, and he slid from the coat and left it fanning in the wind like a scarecrow in a corn field. Then came the family's favorite young dog and had a few rounds with the garment.

When the maid servant answered the milkman's bell Monday morning she beheld a wreck that caused her to arouse the family with the information that a tragedy had been enacted at the front door. Pa's immediate examination and diagnosis partially explained matters, and cost the young man, besides the loss of his coat, a serious backset in that family. All would have been well enough, aside from the coat, had not the young man forgotten to unload a pocket half full of useless baseball pool tickets, which lay spread out on the floor, and which he should have torn up in disgust, as baseball enthusiasts do, instead of harboring them to bring ruin to his cause.—Kansas City Times.

HOW FISHES CLIMB HILLS.

A Curious and Interesting Story of Some of Their Habits.

In that fascinating book on natural history, "A Frozen Dragon," is an explanation of the phenomenon that trout are often found in mountain streams, far up toward their source, in deep pools and eddies:

In one pool, out of which led a direct fall of three feet, there were numbers of the richly tinted little creatures, that to have attained their position must either have swum up the fall or gone around by land. After catching a number I began to frighten the others to see what they would do.

Some dashed at the little fall and disappeared, while others darted over and swam down stream. Still farther up I found the speckled game, until finally the passage became so difficult that I was obliged to turn back. In the village I chanced to mention the subject to a friend who owned the mill on the same stream, and he told me that the fishes' ascent was a puzzle to him, until one day his boy called him out to the dam, where the riddle was solved. The dam was nearly four feet high, and to relieve the stream several auger holes had been bored in it, allowing a small stream of water to jet forcibly out and to go splashing down into the clear pool below. As my friend approached the spot and looked through the bushes several large sized trout were seen moving under the mimic fall, evidently in great excitement, and darting into it as if enjoying the splash and roar of the water.

Suddenly one of the fish made a quick rush that sent it up the falling stream, so that it almost gained the top; but by an unlucky turn it was caught and thrown back into the pool, where it darted away, evidently much startled.

Soon another made the attempt, darting at it like the first, and then rapidly swimming up the fall, but only to meet the fate of its predecessor. This was tried a number of times, until finally a trout larger than the others made a dash, mounted the stream, and entered the round hole.

The observers were almost ready to clap their hands, but it was not successful yet. As the water stopped flowing for a moment, they saw that, though the athletic trout had surmounted the fall, the hole was too small for it to pass through, and there the poor fish was lodged. The lookers on hastened to relieve it, and found that its side or pectoral fins were caught in the wood, but, by pushing the fish ahead, which you may be sure they did, they liberated it, and it darted away into the upper pond.

Here, then, was the explanation. The trout climbed the mountain by swimming up the falls, darting up the foaming masses, and adopting every expedient to accomplish their journey. For these fish deposit their eggs high up stream, so that the young fry, when hatched, may not be disturbed by predatory fish and other foes living in the lower waters.

Instances of Will Power.

Three stories were told over after dinner cigars the other day, showing the power of man's will. One was of a young officer in the English army, who was peculiarly stubborn and irascible. He had been confined to his bed after a severe attack of the heart, and was unable to move. His physician asked one of his fellow officers to warn him that he would never get out of bed again, that he might arrange his affairs before death. When the sick man was told what the doctor had said, he arose in bed excitedly and said: "I will never get up again, eh? I will walk to the doctor myself and show him." He jumped to the floor, walked across the room and fell dead.

The other was about a sheriff out west, who, when arresting a man, was stabbed through the heart. He seized the man by the shoulders, after the blade had struck him, pressed him to the ground, drew his revolver, and deliberately thrusting it down the struggling prisoner's throat, pulled the trigger at the instant he himself died.

The third story was regarding another officer who was hunting down a thief. The man thought he had given his pursuer the slip, but just as he entered one door of a railroad car the officer appeared in the other. The thief instantly fired, the bullet penetrating his pursuer's brain. The officer, however, returned the shot, bringing his man to the ground. He then dragged himself along the aisle of the car, firing as he crawled, until his revolver was empty. He was dead when he was picked up a second after he ceased to shoot.—Boston Gazette.

Concerning Watermelons.

Good, sound watermelons, not cracked, kept in a shady place, will keep three or four weeks. Many attempts have been made to keep them all winter, but the fruit preservers have not as yet made a success of it. Some proposed to do it by varnishing the outside, so as to exclude the air. George Blank, however, who is a big dealer in watermelons at Pier 27, North river, says that the best way to keep a melon all winter is to bury it in the ground where it will not freeze. No attempt has been made to keep watermelons all the year round as a commercial speculation, except that a few have occasionally been put in cold storage, and once in a while a gardener raises a few in a hothouse for the benefit of those who do not like anything that is got in the normal way.

Among melon dealers the belief is widespread that the fruit is good for kidney troubles. The effect upon the kidneys is almost as quickly perceptible as that of asparagus, while to the fevered tongue the taste is as delicious as that of an orange. It is of the utmost importance that melons should be kept free from cracks. Very soon after a melon is cracked it begins to get sour.—New York Sun.

SWEETHEART DAISY.

The sunset all its golden rays
Athwart the skies of amber threw,
When down among the woodland ways
My bright haired Daisy came in view.
(Soft dintings of a dainty shoe
Had pointed me the path she chose,
And why I followed up the clew
I know—and Sweetheart Daisy knows.

We met—she turned an absent gaze
To where, far off, a heron flew;
For spoke she till, with trembling phrase,
Her hand into my own I drew.
Then, Sweetheart Daisy rosier grew
Than her small namesakes when they close,
And why she blushed so fair a hue
I know—and Sweetheart Daisy knows.)

What time the trailing garden sprays
Were heavy with the summer dew;
When quenched was the geranium blaze,
And dimmed the gay lobelia blue—
Daisy and I came pushing through
The long loose hedge of briar rose,
And why we were so glad, we two,
I know—and Sweetheart Daisy knows.

ENVOI.

Prince Love, all potent sovereign, who
The fate of lovers dost dispose,
Why this old world for me is new
I know—and Sweetheart Daisy knows.
—Francis Wynne in Longman's Magazine.

Railroads in India.

Nearly all the railroads in India are under the government and many of the roads were built by the government, guaranteeing 5 per cent. to the stockholders on the condition that the profits above 5 per cent. shall be equally divided between the government and the stockholders. Over others of the roads the government has a sort of a control and the result is that the tenure of place on the railroad is much the same as that of the civil service of England. Men expect to stay a lifetime when they enter the railroad service and there is no danger of their discharge during good behavior. There are no strikes in India, and a position on the railroad is considered very desirable by the natives.

The laws are, on the account of the government owning the roads, almost altogether in favor of the road, and our farmers would rise in indignation at some of them. If an American has a cow killed on the track of a road running through his farm the railroad company pays well for it. In India the owner of cattle found trespassing on the railroad is liable to a penalty of $3.00 for each animal. Any man who drives any animal across an Indian railway except at certain appointed times and places is liable to a fine of $17, and any man who enters a car reserved for females can be fined $95. The man who tries to get on a train here after it is started will be fined $7, and any one who attemps to defraud the railway company in any manner is liable to a fine of $16.—Frank G. Carpenter.

Lord Wolseley on the German Army.

The German nation may be thankful to the German army for other reasons than simply the defense of the fatherland, according to Gen. Lord Wolseley. He writes: "I take the German army as the highest existing type of the military system and organization, which the changes effected in armies by the French revolution have led up to; and much as I admire that army as a soldier I admire it still more as a citizen. Great as it is for war, it is infinitely greater as a national school for the moral, mental and physical training of the people. Designed exclusively for war, it has become the most important of peace institutions. In it all Germans are trained to strength and taught the first principles of personal cleanliness and of health. There they learn to be honest and manly, and are taught the excellence of those virtues which serve to make men good subjects and law abiding citizens. It is the school of the nation, in which deep love of fatherland is fostered and cherished, and where all classes learn that there is honor in obedience and nobility in self sacrifice."

Life at Sandringham.

Nothing can be happier and more peaceful than the life at Sandringham, and whether alone or entertaining their friends, the Prince and Princess of Wales are an ideal host and hostess. They do not, as a rule, appear at breakfast; but shortly after 11 they come down and spend the rest of the day with their guests. In winter luncheon is generally taken at some cottage near where skating is going on, and the princess and the guests join the skaters and walk with them after luncheon is over. Tea is always ready in the hall at 5, and every one appears, the men in velvet suits and knickerbockers, and the ladies in tea gowns. Dinner is at 8, and the evening is passed either in dancing or games, and about 12 the prince and princess give the signal for retiring, and those who go to bed early can get to rest; but the majority of the guests go to the smoking room till an early hour in the morning.—Chicago Times.

Jack Dempsey Quieted Him.

In a crowded car on Geary street a rather undersized man trod on a big man's toe. He immediately apologized, but the big man would accept no excuse and grumbled and growled, and, as the smaller man made no attempt to resent it, he gradually roused himself to a furious heat.

"Who are you, sirrah?" he demanded, shaking his fist in the other man's face; "who the devil are you that goes around stamping your big feet on every one within reach? Who are you"——

"My name is Jack Dempsey," quietly answered the other, looking up.

The big man's jaw fairly dropped and he hastily left the car, mumbling apologetically. The small man was not the noted fighter, but he scared the bully just as much as if he was.—San Francisco Examiner.

To Stop Gum Chewing in School.

Mix a little soap with the gum and require the pupils to chew all together for a little while. Give fair warning; then treat every offender alike. Probably one dose will break it up in school, if the pupils are assured that you are in earnest and will give them soap every time they forget and slip the horrid stuff in their mouths. I have tried this with primary pupils. I cannot speak of its value with older pupils, large enough to resist authority. That depends upon the teacher's discipline.—Cor. American Teacher.

LONG LIFE

There is nothing in the world more generally desired than long life, yet the majority of people put off caring for their health—not because they are really careless, but because we live our lives at such a pace we have not time to give the subject sufficient thought until we receive a reminder in the shape of a severe illness.

Then, too, we are constantly bewildered by the various schools of medicine, and the physicians who represent them, and often blunder in our choice of a doctor.

If people only knew that the very best health-keeper, life-preserver, and disease-preventer that has yet been discovered, is simmered down into a concentrated and very palatable form in the shape of New Style Pleasant Taste Vinegar Bitters, they would not hesitate a moment to try it.

But they do not know. How can they know, when so many not only worthless, but positively injurious drugs are constantly flooding the market under various names guises, that the New Style Vinegar Bitters is as bad as any of them?

They do not know, of course, unless they have the courage to try the New Style. It straightens out a tangled-up system in a very short while, and those who buy it once buy it always.

Why don't you try it, reader? It is sent out by a responsible house, and is exactly as represented. It costs but a dollar for a very large bottle. Try it once and you will never be so glad of anything in your life. Your druggist may not have it, but he will order it for you. Be sure it says New Style Pleasant Taste on carton and bottle before you take it. Try it, and you will feel happier than if you had found a gold mine, for it really is a mine—of health.

—A Mt. Gilead dispatch to Sunday's Leader said "Mr. R. P. Holliday, for twenty three years cashier of the First National bank here, is reported short in his accounts The directors held a meeting this morning and closed the bank. One of the directors informed your correspondent that Mr Holliday had forged several notes to square the books Nothing reliable can be learned as to the condition of the bank until an examination is made by Bank Examiner J J Sullivan, of Millersburg."

—Another back line war seems to be waging, and as a result of one of the skirmishes Jim Riley has been bound over to the Probate court on the charge of assault and battery The trouble this time seems to be that Frank Smith drove one of the Guthrey & Anthony buses up to one of Riley & Wright's stands at the C., H. V and T., and refused to comply with the request of Riley to move. As a result Riley pushed Smith aside and moved the opposition bus himself. A warrant for his arrest followed, and, in the meantime, the bus war continues.

A Correct Description.

The following from an exchange hits a class of subscribers which every newspaper has to deal with, and there is no paper but which will vouch for its truth:

"Two men who owe us for over two years' subscription put their papers back into the postoffice last week marked 'refused.' We have heard of many mean men—there is the man who used the wart on his neck for a collar button, the one who pastured a goat on his grandmother's grave, the one who stole coppers from a dead man's eyes, the one who got rich by giving his five children a nickle each to go to bead without supper and then stealing the nickels after the children were asleep, but for downright meanness the man who will take a paper for years, never pay anything for it, mark it 'refused and then stick it back in the post office is entitled to the first premium.

The Ladies Delighted.

The pleasant effects and the perfect safety with which ladies may use the liquid fruit laxative, Syrup of Figs, under all conditions make it their favorite remedy. It is pleasing to the eye and to the taste, gentle, yet effectual in acting on the kidneys, liver and bowels.

WEATHER INDICATIONS.

Fair weather, warmer in northwest, stationary temperature in southwest portion; southeasterly winds.

A GREAT REPAIR SALE.

EXTENSIVE alterations and improvements are being made in our business room. It brings to light many goods that must be closed out on the spot.

Fall Goods. Our Mr. Warner is now East, and the most desirable Novelties in Dress Goods are arriving.

WITH the Finest stock of Dress Goods and Cloaks ever shown in Marion, we shall be prepared for the greatest fall business we have ever done.

SUICIDE NEAR PROSPECT

Albert Wynn Shoots Himself Through the Heart His Clothes Ignite from the Weapon's Discharge and His Body Is Fearfully Burned.

Early Saturday evening Prospect and vicinity was startled by the horrifying news of the suicide of Albert Wynn, a young man of 28 years of age, well known and highly respected in the community.

Young Wynn, who teaches school in the winter and assists on his father's farm in the summer, had worked on the farm, which is a little north of the Newman bridge on the Green Camp road, until noon Saturday. After dinner he shaved himself and remained about the house until 5 o'clock, when he went to a field to water the stock. That was the last seen of him until about an hour later, when a neighbor named Thatcher was attracted to the field by a pistol shot and saw the prostrate form of young Wynn on the ground. He was too excited to investigate himself and ran to the road, where he hailed some passing threshermen, who accompanied him to the scene of death. There young Wynn was found still in death with the weapon lying near him. They were doubly horrified to find that his clothing had been ignited by the explosion of the revolver, and was nearly burned off his body. The flames were extinguished and, after advice from others who were summoned, the body was removed to the home of the sorrowing family. It was found that the ball had pierced his heart and caused instantaneous death.

There seems to exist a doubt whether his death was a suicide or accident. No trace of anything has been found in the way of an explanation by the deceased, such as suicides generally leave, and nothing in his recent actions points to any reason for such a course. He acted very naturally, had been working as usual and had a school engaged, which he was to teach the coming fall and winter. Yet there are no good reasons for believing his death an accident He had but recently bargained with his neighbor, Thatcher, for the weapon, and there was no reason for carrying the weapon except for self destruction

Young Wynn was quite well to do and highly respected by his acquaintances He was identified with the Prospect lodge of Odd Fellows, and was almost the last man in that community whom anyone would have selected for a suicide.

His funeral occurred this afternoon and was very largely attended.

A New Firm.

We wish to inform the people of Marion and vicinity that Mr. Will H Smith, Jr., formerly in the employ of the old reliable firm of Clark Turney, has connected himself with that firm, having bought a half interest The firm will hereafter be known as Turney & Smith. Mr Smith has had twenty years' experience in the jewelry business, both in wholesale and retail, besides being a first-class watchmaker and engraver He will give his personal attention to the watch repairing and engraving department. All work entrusted to his care will receive prompt attention and guaranteed to give satisfaction and all goods bought of this firm will be nicely ENGRAVED FREE OF CHARGE People who are in want of anything in this line will do well to give them a call before purchasing. They will be glad to see you; all are cordially invited to call They are receiving new goods daily and you will find everything generally kept in a first-class jewelry store. Get their prices before buying.

Promises to Tighten the Screws.

Two plain drunks were before the Mayor this morning and received the usual fines. In passing his sentence Mayor Galley admonished them that the next time that they or any others were arrested for Sunday drunkenness they would be sent to the workhouse for ninety days or held under bond to appear before the grand jury to testify against the saloon keepers who sell them whisky.

His Honor regards Sunday drunkenness the worst form, and took occasion to say that saloon-keepers who sell to habitual drunkards on Sunday are worse than rascals

There is promise of trouble for Sunday violators if the drunkenness does not cease.

CAUTION

W. L. Douglas' name and the price are stamped on the bottom of all Shoes advertised by him before leaving his factory; this protects the wearers against high prices and inferior goods. If your dealer does not keep the style or kind you want, or offers you shoes without W. L. Douglas' name and price stamped on them, and says they are just as good, do not be deceived thereby, but send direct to the Factory for you can get what you want by return mail, postage paid. Dealers make more profit on unknown shoes that are not warranted by anybody; therefore do not be induced to buy shoes that have no reputation. Buy only those that have W. L. Douglas' name and the price stamped on the bottom, and you are sure to get full value for your money. Thousands of dollars are saved annually in this country by the wearers of W. L. Douglas' Shoes In ordering by mail state whether you want Congress, Button or Lace, London cap toe, plain French toe, or narrow cap toe, and be sure to give size and width you wear. I can fit any foot that is not deformed, as my shoes are made in a great variety of widths, sizes and half sizes. I guarantee a fit, prompt delivery and perfect satisfaction or money refunded upon return of the shoes in good condition. W. L. DOUGLAS, Brockton, Mass.

—Shakespeare or Bacon?

INVIGORATING and appetising if taken cold before eating in the morning. It tones up the system, settles a disordered stomach A gentle, but sure cathartic. If a matitudinal cocktail must be indulged in, it will counteract its bad effects as to stomach and brain. An absolute and sure preventitive of sea sickness. Its components are closely allied to the gastric juices of the stomach.

An Antidote to Intemperance.

IF taken regularly, fresh and cold, three times a day, before each meal, it will put the stomach in such a shape that the necessity for stimulants will not be felt, and excessive desire can be toned down to simple moderation. I shall keep Clam Juice constantly on hand to be served FREE, hot or cold, to my customers. Knowing positively from experience that it will do all that is claimed for it above, I will try in every way to promote its use, as it is not my wish to encourage excessive drinking, and if I can discourage it by giving away freely the only known antidote I will only be too glad to do so.

Have also for sale Buckingham whisky, old Maryland rye—fully matured, seven years old, the best in the country.
